I was elected in November of 2002. And under Alabama law, you take your seat the moment the general election is decided. And I served there until I resigned in May of 2007 to become the chancellor of post-secondary education for the state of Alabama. If you go up on the eastern part of Mobile County into Washington County, at the end of that part of my district that's Clarke County, you have U.S. 43. And along U.S. 43, you have a number of steel plants, chemical plants, a power generating plant for Alabama Power Company, and some other manufacturing concerns. Q And you've said that a lot of people from these outlying counties come into Mobile County to work. What are some of the major employers in the Mobile area? A The largest single private sector employer is Austal shipyard that's located on the water front in Mobile. It employs 4,000 direct employees and about another 1,000 contract employees. Then you have Airbus, which has not only an assembly line there for the A320 and soon the A220. They have an engineering facility there. And out there by the Mobile Airport an actual facility that services the military.	2 3 4 10:42:10 5 6 7 8 9 10:42:27 10 11 12 13 14 10:42:45 15 16 17 18	any industry upriver that uses the port system to ship its product? A Virtually all of them do both in and out. Sometimes with the chemical companies they have other things substances are coming from other places that is brought into their facility. They do whatever their process is to turn it into something else, and then it goes right back out again. So it's not unusual and same is true for the steel companies and for some of the other manufacturing concerns. For example, the for Airbus, you have a number of parts and large parts of the jet that come in by barge or large ocean going ship and they go to a special port there, and then they are trucked back over to the Airbus facility. If you go up on the eastern part of Mobile County into Washington County, at the end of that part of my district that's Clarke County, you have U.S. 43. And along U.S. 43, you have a number of steel plants, chemical plants, a power generating plant for Alabama Power Company, and some other manufacturing concerns. Q And you've said that a lot of people from these outlying counties come into Mobile County to work. What are some of the major employers in the Mobile area? A The largest single private sector employer is Austal shipyard that's located on the water front in Mobile. It employs 4,000 direct employees and about another 1,000 contract employees. Then you have Airbus, which has not only an assembly line there for the A320 and soon the A220. They have an engineering facility there. And out there by the Mobile Airport an actual facility that services the military. You have, as I said, three steel mills there in Mobile County, a number of chemical companies. A Well, I'd be living on Interstate 10 getting back and forth between the western most part of my district to the eastern most part of my district, because that's the most efficient way to get from the western part of that district to the eastern part of the district. It takes a long time to get from far west Mobile County to get to Dothan over there in the southeastern part of Houston County. And then if you go up to Henry County where Abbeville is, you would be even further because you would have to go over Interstate 10, come up through Dothan, then go even further north. That's not to say if that was my district I wouldn't do it. Of course, I would do it. But because of the geographic distance there, I would not be able to do as much. So in the past six years, I've done over 130 town halls in 55 different localities in my district. I would not be able to do that many town halls nor reach that many localities if that were my district. Q Are there communities of interest that unite southwest Mobile County with Houston and Henry counties? A I can't think of any. Q Okay. Do they have any common industry? Do you have any sense of which candidate might have a stronger base of support? A Yeah. The Montgomery candidate. So and think about that. That means you just hurt Mobile. If you do that district that district you got in Plaintiffs' Exhibit 67 hurts Mobile, everybody in Mobile. Q Well, and then I guess you would have an election for District 1 at the same time. You could have a candidate from west Mobile County and a candidate from Dothan. You could have a candidate elected from Dothan to represent District 1, a candidate from Montgomery to represent District 2, and no one anywhere who was lives anywhere around Mobile County? A That's right. Q Would you not? A That would be devastating for Mobile. Q Would that be good you said it would be bad for Mobile. Would it be good for the state of Alabama? A No. You would lose a congressman or woman who was focused on that very economically dynamic part of the state. And I would say the same thing by the way if we were talking about Huntsville. They've got two different sets of things trying to accomplish. And trying to master what the needs are of those two distinct areas and regions would be very difficult, I would think. Congressman Roby would throw herself at it and I think do well at it. But I think even as good as she is and as hard as she works, I think she would find it extremely difficult to represent an area that looks like that. THE COURT: Is it fair to say that sometimes Mobile and Montgomery may be somewhat of competitors, as well as friends? THE WITNESS: Yes, ma'am. That's not unusual, you know, when you're going after an economic development prospect. You're friends and work together on things you can. But if there's one prospect and you both want to go get them, you're competitors. And you would agree with me, wouldn't you, 16 Congressman Byrne, that a disproportionate number of African-American children are going to some of the worse schools in Alabama and in your district? 19 A Yes. I think it's one of the biggest problems facing the state of Alabama. It's something I've tried to do something about starting back with my state school board service. 1 think we have really missed a tremendous opportunity to move Alabama forward by consigning African-American children because of where they live to perennially failing schools.	1 African-Americans in your district were against the repeal of 2 the Affordable Care Act? 3 A I had very few people white or black come up to me and 4 speak to me that they were in favor of the Affordable Care Act. 11:47:48 5 I had a large number of people, African-American and white, who 6 were opposed to the Affordable Care Act. 7 Q You've never, for instance, seen any polling that suggests 8 that African-Americans in your district were for the repeal of 9 the Affordable Care Act? 11:48:00 10 A No. 11 Q And you haven't seen any polling data, I take it, whether 12 blacks either in Alabama or nationwide support the repeal of 13 the Affordable Care Act? 14 A I don't think I have, no. If I did, I don't remember. 15 Q And you are against restoring Sections 4 and 5 of the 16 Voting Rights Act? I think you've noted the formula or 17 preclearance provisions? 18 A Yeah. Q I'd like you to tell the Court about your district, Mr. Bonner, and particularly what are things that bind these areas together? If you believe they are a community of interest, please explain why. A Well, the first congressional district in my view is unlike any other congressional district in the state, in the sense that it is the only coastal district. So you've got Mobile and Baldwin counties in the southern part of the district that not only are connected by Mobile Bay but front the Gulf of Mexico. And so, therefore, everything I would call it a hub and

SPIVA: Thank you, Your Honor. And sorry, Your Honor, and relevance, if I may. THE COURT: Okay. BY MR. DAVIS: 15:14:47 25 Q Are you aware, Mr. Bonner, of any objection from Christina K. Decker, RMR, CRR	the fifth district. There was a little bit of back and forth between Congressman Brooks and Congressman Aderholt and Congressman Bachus. But at the end of the day, the map that the legislature produced was by and large the map that we were hopping it would be. And Representatives Aderholt, Bachus, and Rogers, did you say? Interview and Aderholt. Those are districts in north Alabama, correct? A Yes, sir. A Yes, sir. A They not only were supportive, they were financially invested in it. A All seven members of the delegation agreed to support, if the legislature could not agree upon a plan, that we would help finance legal counsel to represent us if we went to federal court, and we would work together to help the legislature if they could pass a plan. If they needed expertise drawing maps, or others who would be working to help achieve this goal, we all agreed that we would have skin in the game. Christina K. Decker, RMR, CRR
2 African-American? 3 A Yes, sir. There were some legislators who were arguing 4 for that point. And there were some political leaders in the 5 Alabama Democratic Conference primarily Dr. Joe Reed, who 6 was advocating there be two districts. 7 Q Was Representative Hilliard still representing the seventh 8 district at that time? 9 A Yes, sir. 15:14:07 10 Q What was his position on whether Alabama should draw a 11 second majority black district? 12 A Not speaking for Representative Hilliard, but speaking for 13 the delegation, we were united that we wanted to preserve the 14 districts as they were, and all the members were supportive of 15:14:25 15 that effort. 16 MR. Q And there was litigation brought challenging the fact that the old map no longer complied with one person one vote; is that fair? A I will have to be honest. I don't remember all of the litigation that was brought. I remember I don't even remember how many times the legislature attempted to draw it. I believe that the governor at the time, Governor Siegelman, called them into special session maybe two or three times, to produce a map. And when they failed to because the clock was ticking on the upcoming election, the map that was put in place was put in place by a federal court and upheld, I believe, by a three-judge panel. Q But before the Court entered a map, did there wasn't there a consent map that the legislature passed as a result of litigation? A I regret I can't my memory's not quite that good.
16:02:55	THE COURT: I'm trying to figure out. MR. SPIVA: Maybe I will try to break it down again just for clarity.
